1. Tony Christie Feat. Peter Kay
Deprived of a number one hit in 1971, when I Did What I Did For Maria - sung from the viewpoint of a killer avenging the murder of his wife - was runner-up to both Knock Three Times by Dawn and Chirpy Chirpy Cheep Cheep by Brotherhood Of Man, Tony Christie finally gets there this week, thanks to (Is This The Way To) Amarillo. A number 18 hit when originally released, Amarillo won new fame due to Peter Kay's patronage. The re-release benefits Comic Relief and dethrones the official Comic Relief single by McFly.

3. Elvis Presley
The Presley reissue juggernaut rolls on with She's Not You - originally a number one hit in 1962 - providing the late singer with his 11th top three single in as many weeks. First-week sales of 25,424 for the Jerry Leiber, Mike Stoller and Doc Pomus song bring cumulative sales of Presley singles in 2005 to 383,268 - 8.6% of overall 2005 singles sales. The first reissue in the series - Jailhouse Rock - remains the biggest seller, with sales to date of 39,091. Are You Lonesome Tonight is next, with sales of 38,306.

5. The Bravery
Invoking comparisons with New Order, The Human League, Duran Duran and The Cure in many of the rave reviews their self-titled debut album has received, The Bravery - despite their distinctly British influences - are the hottest new band out of New York right now. To be fair, they are also being compared favourably with contemporaries like The Strokes and The Killers and their debut album makes a big splash this week, debuting at number five with first-week sales of 38,472, a fortnight after introductory single 'An Honest Mistake' reached number seven.

7. Gwen Stefani
With first single 'What You Waiting For' a number four hit last November, and second single 'Rich Girl' debuting at number four this week, Gwen Stefani's debut solo album 'Love, Angel, Music, Baby' dashes 12-7 to surpass the number 10 peak it scored eight weeks ago. The album, issued last November, opened fairly quietly at number 14, but has now sold 405,464 copies. 'Rich Girl' reunites Stefani with Eve, with whom she shared another number four hit - 'Let Me Blow Ya Mind' - back in 2001.

8. Moby
 After consecutive number one albums with 1999's Play and 2002's 18, Moby is less successful with new album Hotel, which checks in at number eight. First-week sales of 23,925 for Hotel also compare poorly with the 51,658 copies that 18 sold on its first week in the shops, but beat Play's opening sales of 3,821, which earned it a number 33 debut - it eventually reached number one nearly a year later and has so far sold 1.76m copies. Despite its fast chart start, 18 has sold a more modest 481,970 copies.

10. Daft Punk
 Exactly four years after their last album Discovery made a hefty first frame - debuting at number two with sales of 50,629, kept off the summit only by Eva Cassidy's Songbird - Daft Punk return with Human After All. It makes a somewhat smaller impression, debuting at number 10 with first-week sales of 18,524 - but that's understandable considering that Discovery made its debut hot on the heels of introductory single One More Time (also a number two hit) while no single has yet been released from Human After All.
