2. Snoop Dogg
Registering his 17th Top 40 hit since 1993, Snoop Dogg reaches a new personal peak with Signs, which debuts at number two this week and, with first-week sales of 46,596, came closer than any record yet to dethroning seven-week chart champ Amarello. Based on the Gap Band's 1982 number 55 single Early In The Morning, Signs is a collaboration with that act's Charlie Wilson and Justin Timberlake, and is the third single to be lifted from Snoop's album R&G: Rhythm & Gangster: The Masterpiece, following Drop It Like It's Hot (number 10) and Let's Get Blown (number 13).

3. Elvis Presley
Debuting at number three this week, A Little Less Conversation is the last of Elvis Presley's 18 number ones to be reissued since what would have been his 70th birthday earlier in January. In all, the reissues yielded three number ones, eight number twos, four number threes, a number four and a number five. One single (All Shook Up) was not chart eligible. Total physical sales for the series so far are 624,610, with the biggest seller being Jailhouse Rock (41,033), followed by Aie You Love Someone Tonight (39,733) and Wooden Heart (39,072).

MUSIC WEEK ONLINE TOO
All the sales and airplay charts published in Music Week are also available online every Sunday evening at www.musicweek.com

1. Bruce Springsteen
A selection of songs relating to the aftermath of the terrorist attacks on New York in September 2001. The Rising provided Bruce Springsteen with his fifth number one album the following August, with first-week sales of 57,071, which have since grown to 257,406. His follow-up Devils & Dust - a CD/DVD combo - has no problem earning Springsteen his sixth number one this week, with first-week sales of 62,311 giving it a 32.2% lead over Akon, who slips to number two with Trouble even though the latter album increased its sales last week by 18% to 47,130.

16. Eels
It has been an expensive week for fans of Eels, who woke last Monday to find their hero had released two new download-only albums - Oh What A Beautiful Morning and B-Sides & Rarities 1996-2003 - comprising 37 songs, and a new double disc, 33-track, 93-minute regular album entitled Blinking Lights And Other Revelations. Blinking Lights easily eclipses the number 35 debut, and first-week sales tally of 7,475 of Eels' last album, 2003's Shootenanny!, with sales of 11,916 copies earning it a number 16 debut.

31. Hal Winning
 Overwhelmingly positive reviews for their self-titled debut album which had many critics making favourable comparisons to The Beatles and Beach Boys. Dublin quartet Hal make their maiden album chart appearance this week at number 31 with first-week sales of 7,330. The album has already spawned the singles Worry About The Wind (a number 53 single), What A Lovely Dance (number 36) and Play The Hits (number 38), although best track Keep Love As Your Golden Rule would surely eclipse them all.

56. Robert Downey Jr
 Some artists work faster than others - and Robert Downey Jr has been kept busy by a successful acting career, not to mention a jail sentence. Even so, it has taken more than 12 years for his single Smile - a cover of the Nat King Cole hit written by comedian Charlie Chaplin, which reached number 60 in the singles chart in 1993 - to grow into a full album, namely The Futurist. Mainly penned by Downey himself, who also plays keyboards and percussion on it, the album debuts this week at 56 with first-week sales of 4,205.
